

Fire Protection District Election Set for Tuesday, June 6

Mulkey Names Committees to Put Issue Over

The election for the formation of the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District will be held Tuesday, June 6, Chairman J. Morris Mulkey announced at noon today.

The election will be held in conjunction with the State wide primary election, but not at the same polling places.

Two questions will be decided by the voters at that time:

1. Shall a fire district be formed?

2. Do the voters approve a bond issue of approximately $30,000 for the purpose of setting up the district and purchase of adequate fire fighting equipment?

A majority vote only is necessary in a fire district election.

The total tax rate for the capital outlay and maintenance is expected to not exceed more than 35c per $100 of assessed valuation.

Chairman Mulkey announced the following committees at a luncheon held in the school cafeteria today (Thursday) noon:

Hi, Neighbor

By Mac Rex Graham

"Lemon Grove—the Gateway to the Tunnel" is the slogan originated by George W. Casteel, veteran Realtor, for whom the Review recently printed a new picture map, also originated by Mr. Casteel. This map depicts Lemon Grove in the center of a 5-mile radius, including all points and places of interest and highways. If you are interested in letting friends at a distance know about the fastest growing community in the Southland, I am sure Mr. Casteel will be pleased to have you call for as many copies as you need.

Do you realize that Lemon Grove is also the gateway to open doors to good health, prosperity and happy living. You remember the old saying "Sometimes you can't see the trees for the forest." Might be that way here. Living right here in God's country, we need a trip up to the smog to realize how wonderful is our climate.

Rudy Kehrenberg, the new Union Oil dealer at 8465 Imperial, tells us he came here four months ago because of his wife's health. He had been advised in Detroit, Mich., that Lemon Grove had the most healthful climate in the U. S. A. (All Florida papers please note.) By the way, it might be nice for some of you folks to stop in at 8465 Imperial and give Rudy a welcome hand.

Barbara Kizer is very happy over the nice reception you ladies gave her at the Beauty shop opening last Saturday. Among the lovely flowers and plants she received was a beautiful Azalea from Billy Jean's Beauty Shop. A nice gesture, that, by Mrs. Parsons who believes competition is the spice for good business and that there is plenty here at home if—Lemon Grove folks will patronize home industry and business.

Stanley Blake over at the Greeting Shop has started a "Boost for Lemon Grove" campaign all of his own. You'll find his message every week just above the Want Ad column.

Railroad employees came along Tuesday and messed up the cross walks at Imperial and Golden to discourage us locals from crossing the tracks at these points. The walks were put in by the Women's Business League and have been greatly appreciated by the general public, but the big corporation known as Southern Pacific, a daddy of S. D. & A. E. doesn't like to have the public make a thoroughfare of their right of way. The people of Lemon Grove have no other way to cross the tracks at Imperial-Main without walking out in the street on Broadway. The Chamber of Commerce should do something about this!

Wanted to go over and visit with O. G. Beebe at the Firestone Home and Auto Supply, but have been so busy taking in new subscriptions and renewals from you good people that I couldn't make it this week.

See you next week, neighbor!

D. A. Talks at Kiwanis Club

Don Keller, San Diego County District Attorney, told local Kiwanians Monday noon that no city can be a wide open town and have good government at the same time.

He cited Kansas City as the horrible example of an American city run by the lawless elements for years, until imprisonment of the Pendergasts, and that the city is still trying to dig out from under the mess.

The District Attorney's office of this county also acts as County Counsel in civil cases involving political subdivisions of the county, he said, and acts as attorney for 55 elementary school districts, 28 high school districts and the various water districts and fire protection districts.

The office defends any and all of these districts in cases of litigation, as well as the county of San Diego, and gives legal advice in the conduct of their affairs.

The office also prosecutes law breakers on behalf of the people of California.

Mr. Keller pointed out that all a citizen has to do in case of law violations is to notify his office and his staff of investigators will do the rest and the citizen's name need never become known.

Crime is a community problem, he said, and a community will have just the kind of law enforcement they want.

Dail's Opening Over the Air

That was quite a show put on at Dail's Drive In Home Furnishings at Broadway and Olive last Saturday.

Hundreds of people passed through the doors to view the large display of furnishings, stoves, refrigerators, rugs, living and bedroom suites.

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce participated in the event, President Dorman extending a welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Dail and naturally told the world about Lemon Grove, in a genuine Chamber of Commerce boosting spirit.

Dr. Peter Shea, Bob Lindley, Jack Sanders also took the mike and gave a hearty welcome to the new store and its owners.

New Operator at Union Oil Station

Rudolph Kehrenberg, who has recently moved here from Detroit with his wife and 12 year old son, has taken over the Union oil station at 8465 Imperial avenue.

The Kehrenbergs came to California on account of her health, and were advised to locate in Lemon Grove area by their doctor back in the Michigan city, who told them that this was the healthiest spot in the United States.

They needed but one look at Lemon Grove to decide them in locating here and Mr. Kehrenberg began searching for a business for sale in this vicinity.

The son attends Lemon Grove school and is a member of the Safety Patrol. Mrs. Kehrenberg is at present ill in Mercy Hospital.

Opens Figurine Shop Monday

Mrs. Georgia Pedersen announces on page 3 of today's Review that she is opening a new figurine shop to be known as Pedersen's Playhouse at 7936 Lester street next Monday.

The Pedersens have lived in Lemon Grove 16 years and are well known.

One feature of the new shop will be the display of many new and unusual designs in figurines, many of which have never before been seen here. They will handle glaze, paints and brushes for those who desire to buy the unpainted articles and finish them to their own tastes.

THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

Guest speaker at the Lemon Grove Theosophical Study Group meeting to be held Monday at 8 p. m. will be T. D. Clemesha, president of the La Mesa Theosophical Lodge. ## California Dealt Blow in Central Arizona Irrigation Project

by CONG. RICHARD NIXON

Action of the Senate last week in approving the billion-dollar Central Arizona irrigation project was a terrific blow to California's efforts to protect its water life-line from the Colorado River. This is a threat to continuation of our growing industrial and agricultural importance in the life of the nation which becomes all the more menacing when we analyze the vote by which it was accomplished.

Only four members of the Administration party in the Senate voted to support California on this issue. The significance of this, of course, is that our cause will be extremely difficult to maintain if the party in power also opposes California's interest in the House.

Of these four Democratic Senators, three (Byrd, Tydings and O'Connor) almost invariably vote against the Administration's new spending programs. But I believe the greatest credit for his position on this issue must be reserved for Senator Paul Douglas, of Illinois. Despite the fact that he is generally considered a staunch supporter of the Ad-

Russian Film to be Shown PTA

Jeffrey Stormson will show a very interesting group of uncensored Russian slides to the Vista La Mesa PTA at 7:30 Thursday evening of next week in the kindergarten room. Born in Europe, Mr. Stormson was in the Hungarian army from the time he was 12 until 18 when he came to the United States. On his arrival here he was interned as an enemy alien then released to be drafted in the United States army. He was sent to Germany with the American occupation forces, where he obtained the slides from a German officer who had taken them while fighting Russia. As the State College International Relations Club program chairman and also the House of Pacific Relations publicity chairman, Mr. Stormson has appeared on television and other programs with these slides.

The Mother Singers will give several Irish numbers. Mrs. Richard Cole and Mrs. A. S. Wangness are co-hostesses for the second grade mothers. Child care will be provided.

The nominating committee will present its slate of officers for the election in April.

Mrs. Everett Oliver, chairman of the rummage sale on March 30, has further plans to be announced. The auto harp and set of tone bells, presented by the PTA to the school, will be on display.

IT'S A BOY

Mr. and Mrs. George Kowach, 1748 Dayton, proudly announce the birth of their first son, Dale Jerome, on February 15. He weighed 6 pounds, and has a little sister, Georjean, nearly five years old. Dr. Wesley Herbert was the attending physician.

Several members of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce were heard last Saturday evening in a radio broadcast originating from the new Dail Drive-In Furniture Store on Broadway.

Yvonne Dorman, Dr. Peter Shea, Jack Sanders and Bob Lindley welcomed Mr. Dail to Lemon Grove and congratulated him on his new enterprise. Being true Chamber of Commerce representatives, of course, they also mentioned the tremendous increase in population which has, in turn, necessitated hundreds of new homes, over 37 new business buildings, several new schools and churches, and various new civic groups.

Forward Junior Club News

San Diego County Executive Board of Junior Clubs, C.F.W.C., were guests of the Forward Juniors Wednesday evening. Mesdames C. H. Jennings, David Hentigan, Tedy Hall, Wm. Hubbard and R. B. Kallanquin were hostesses.

Mrs. David Hentigan presided at the business meeting Tuesday evening. Classes for leathercraft, ceramics, rug making, textile painting and sewing were conducted by artists in the club. Senior club guests were Mesdames Ted Haaf, O. R. Patterson and A. P. Schnell. Other guests were Mrs. Thos. Scarrett and Mrs. Jas. O'Reilly. Members are urged to get articles in for the rummage sale on March 24. Mrs. Bill Kellison was appointed publicity chairman to take the place of Mrs. Wm. Miller, resigned. Mrs. E. C. Kranch and Walter Hoffman were hostesses.

TO TAKE CENSUS

On Sunday afternoon members of the First Baptist Church will make a religious census of all the homes in Lemon Grove. Information from such a census should be of great help to all denominations.

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

No jewel on the belt of the capitalist system is the typical "company town." Though a much less frequently encountered phenomenon than it used to be, it still exists to furnish grist for the Marxist propaganda mill.

Company towns are more common in the mining sections of the East, but California is no stranger to them. Drab and uninspired at best, they are usually characterized by rows of identical, mean little houses lining the shabby streets. Lack of pride of ownership is painfully apparent in the untended yards and weather-beaten appearance of the structures. The lack of recreational facilities is usually compensated for by clusters of taverns and other establishments that flourish just beyond the company town limits.

In a company town, critics have long proclaimed, a man can't call his soul his own.

There is a company town in the State of Washington where everything is owned lock, stock and barrel by the "company."
The town made brief news recently when one of its residents, William Simonds, left town in a huff, complaining bitterly of the treatment he had received there.

Five years ago Mr. Simonds negotiated a concession to run an automobile agency in the town.
In those five years he was forced to pay rent on his business location in excess of $100,000.

Mr. Simonds tried to buy a lot on which to erect his own building, but the owners of the town wouldn't hear of it. They had an iron-clad rule: property could be leased, but not sold. For a full year Mr. Simonds tried to get his rent reduced, but the town bosses wouldn't even meet with him until finally he was forced to cancel his lease and go out of business.

Ordinarily, Mr. Simonds' sad experience would be quickly seized upon by critics of the capitalist system. Here is a clear example of ruthless, arbitrary treatment of an individual by the "bosses," of discrimination against a tenant by a gouging landlord unrestrained by rent control regulations.

Ordinarily, the critics would argue that Mr. Simonds' case proves that individuals need the help of an all-powerful, paternalistic Government, committed to Welfare State principles, to prevent such wicked things from happening.

There are no mass meetings being held for Mr. Simonds, however. For the name of the company town is Richland, and its owner is the United States Government. The Atomic Energy Commission calls the tune in Richland. It owns the land and the buildings, all the houses in which workers live and the business premises.

Rent control? Not for the 100 percent. Government owned company town of Richland Washington.

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

Primed with facts and figures California's legislators will figuratively roll up their sleeves Monday morning, March 6, and go to work fashioning another year's budget for the State.

That's the will of the people—they expressed it in no uncertain terms in passing a recent constitutional amendment restricting even-numbered year legislative sessions to budget matters.

This year, however, California's solons aren't going to be able to devote their full time to ledgers and balance sheets.

Governor Warren, under the powers vested in his office, has decided to call a Special Session of the Legislature, to run concurrently with the budget session for discussion of emergency matters. It is the considered opinion of most observers that the Special Session is due to provoke far more interest than the more prosaic matter of how the State will spend the taxpayer's dollar.

According to advance information, Governor Warren's Special Session call will provide for action on the following items:

1. Old age pensions. At this session, the pension issue will be re-opened to deal with relatives responsibility, the amount of pensions, the eligibility age and whether or not the counties should pay a portion of pension costs or the State should pay all, as under the repudiated McLain Pension Scheme.

Last December, in another Special Session called by the Governor, the Legislature provided for the State to assume the counties' share of aged and blind aid payments until the end of the fiscal year when the counties could make provision to meet the outlay.

2. Public school financing. Under this subject the Legislature probably will deal with teachers' pay, school operating expenses and possibly aid to financially-strapped school districts.

3. Anti-crime legislation. Under the crime problem, in general, attempts will be made to tighten law enforcement. Also anti-slot machine measures are scheduled for the agenda and efforts will be made to make the law more stringent in respect to sex crimes.

4. Lobby legislation. Lobbying undoubtedly will share the spotlight with the crime crusade as a headline attraction. In connection with the lobby problem, Assemblyman Thomas M. Irwin of Los Angeles heads a committee which will make specific recommendations. However, the Governor is expected to come up with a bill, as are several others.

Whether or not anyone will bring up the matter of lobbying by State officials is a moot point.
What else will make legislative news is anybody's guess. That the solons won't dawdle in Sacramento, however, can be taken for granted. With the Primary Election scheduled for June 6 there's a lot of campaigning ahead that can only be done in home districts.

'Too Little for Brains' Idea Is Hindering Research Medicine

By BILLY ROSE

Today, I'd like to tell you about a talk I had with a doctor who is doing research work at one of the New York cancer clinics. He made me promise not to use his name because he was afraid he might be blacklisted by the foundation which pays his salary. I began by asking him to sketch in his pre-research career.

"The usual 10-year grind," he said. "Four years of college, four more at medical school, a year as intern, and a year in residency training."

"What made you go into research?"

"Like a lot of young doctors," he said, "I couldn't get used to sitting by while a patient died simply because I didn't know anything else I could do for him. Every time I looked up into the eyes of relatives gathered around the bed of a man in the last stages of cancer, I told myself that my job wasn't to go on using the hit-or-miss techniques but to get into a laboratory and help find the real cure."

"How did you go about getting started?"

"I made the usual applications," said the M.D., "but I soon found the hospitals and universities had no funds to hire research men, and that I couldn't get a job unless a foundation paid my salary. To complicate things, most foundations won't give you a fellowship unless you first have a job. In addition, it's almost impossible to get a grant until you've published a certain number of scientific papers and, of course, you can't publish such papers until you've worked in a laboratory and had a chance to do research worth writing about. 'It finally boiled down to this: I could work for nothing in a cancer laboratory, or I could take a job paying $120 a week doing research for a cosmetic outfit. Well, I had just gotten married and was ready to settle for the money, but my wife wouldn't hear of it—she went out and got an office job and made me stick to my test tubes.'"

"HOW LONG did you work for free?"

"About a year," said the doctor. "and then the head of the medical center—a very decent guy—squeezed me onto the payroll at $28.87 a week."

"You could have earned more washing dishes."

"We managed to get by," said the doctor, "but the following year my wife had a baby and had to quit her job. After that, it was pretty rugged. As for instance, we couldn't afford to buy a crib, and the youngster had to sleep in a donated baby carriage."

"Somehow, though, we pulled our way through, and by the end of the following year I had gotten a couple of research pieces published. With these to back me up, I applied for a fellowship paying $3,000 a year."

"Minus withholding tax, I presume."

"It may not sound like much, but I felt like John D. Jr. when the grant came through," said the doctor. "Last year, I went through the application rigmarole again—275 typed pages—and this time I got the full $3,600."

"WHAT DO YOU DO to earn all that money?" I said.

"I'm in charge of three cancer projects and help on half a dozen others. On the side, I run a throat clinic, work in the wards and give seminars."

"Any chance of a raise?"

"I'm afraid not," said the doctor, "and, as far as fellowships are concerned, I'm getting near the end of the line. I'm 29 now, and the foundations don't like to make grants to men over 30."

"There's always the job in the industrial lab," I said.

"It may come to that," said the M.D., "but I hope not. No matter what it pays, I want to keep plugging away on cancer. It seems a lot more important than developing a new shade of face powder..."

The day after our talk, I happened to pass the medical skyscraper in which the young doctor works, and I noticed that an additional wing was under construction. Dozens of steel workers, bricklayers and carpenters—all averaging around a hundred a week—were getting in each other's way.

Over the half-finished entrance was a space which looked as if it might eventually be filled with a block of marble on which a fitting inscription would be carved.

"I know what it ought to be," I said to myself. "Too much for bricks, too little for brains!"

Talks and Walks With Mother Nature

BY TRIxie TREGANZA

WILSON PHALAROPE

Of all birds wearing feathers and that's exactly all of them since a Grecian plucked a rooster to make "Pluto's Man," the Wilson Phalarope is the most exasperating. The females of this species are the original suffrageettes, but they are no longer militant. They do not have to be, they have arrived. It is sober truth to say that these sturdy pioneers of feminism have assumed all the functions of leadership, including that of courting, and they have delegated to the males all the domestic cares and responsibilities except that of laying eggs.

The male is smaller than the female, of a monotone, nearly all gray. These birds before me were evidently paired, and as manifestly had local attachments for that particular stretch of grass and weeds and ooze. One pair lit near me when I was photographing a Black Tern's nest, and the male began to poke about in the reeds, like a hen that has forgotten the location of her nest. The female dogged his steps and he occasionally chased her off in a petulant way precisely as a female of any more rational species would have done under like circumstances. Finally the male housewife disappeared in a certain clump toward which he had already twice feinted. The female came to a standstill and mounted guard for at least 10 minutes. The situation was perfectly clear from a zoological standpoint. The eggs were being covered until such time as it was my pleasure to claim them.

Imagine my surprise, therefore when the female suddenly flitted over the weeds to a more distant clump, to which her dutiful spouse had sneaked, routed him out and made off with him to parts unknown. On succeeding days I raked that neck of the swamp with a finetooth comb.
But all to no avail, the birds came without rhyme or reason now one, now two, then again all four from I knew not where and disappeared again as mysteriously.
That the nests are wonderfully well concealed both through protective coloration of the eggs and through the cunning of the parent birds, is beyond question yet this alone should hardly explain our lack of success in finding the nests. If they alighted the reeds swallowed them up! If they flew they did it in a demure way which was a rebuke to curiosity. In flying a bird would sometimes give voice to its disquiet in a sort of hoarse, barking note, a rough monosyllable which was occasionally subdued to a mellow croak, oont. This was often a summons, and if uttered by a single bird aloft would serve to rouse the mate from some recess of the grass; whereupon both would flit away as though renouncing all claim to that locality.

The suggestion is worthy of consideration, for it may well be that a society which has evolved a female in pants has also produced a goodly number of bachelor maids and complainant aunties not to mention fortunate males who have managed to escape the wiles and blandishments of the ardent sex. That the male who was once taken the veil, does not shirk thenceforth the arduous duties of paternity, we have most emphatic proof. The male bird not only incubates the eggs, but has sole care of the chicks when hatched.

While in camp at Great Salt Lake we noticed young Phalaropes hiding about the grass.
Male birds danced close attendance about our movements and showed every extravagance of solicitude. But the females only looked on occasionally, once in 10 minutes or so, to see that their worse halves were giving proper attention to their duties in the nursery, and then returned, content, to the distant club-room.

One distraught father I nearly seized in his abandoned grief.
Again and again he cast himself down in the grass and put on agonies both of distress and invitation with tones varied to suit. His chief pose was to stand with head and chest depressed to the ground with tail elevated to show the white underparts conspicuously. At other times he would rise clear of the grass awing and fall back again and again until he appeared quite exhausted. Withal he was such a pale, pathetic and manifestly overworked household drudge that one felt quite ashamed to add to his burdens. The situation wrought upon the nerves.

Here at best was Topsy Turvy Town, and a mere man, alone, and unattended had fearful forebodings of what might befall him, in California. Mrs. Wilson wears the breeches and she is more attendant upon club life than to household cares. Mrs.
Wilson is a bigamist, not occasionally, and of course not invariably, but very usually she maintains two establishments.

The association cannot be accidental for we are in the midst of the breeding season. The males, frightened by our presence in the swamp, and daring to remain longer off their eggs, have sought the comforting presence of their household. The three take counsel together, and it is only when the redoubtable old lady announces that the way is clear that the dutiful cuckolds trail off to their nests.

We have always found several nests close together, four top shaped eggs, pale to deep olive buff, deeply spotted with black or brownish black, placed among wet reeds. The adults are pearl gray, chestnut and black in masses. The females are larger than the males and more brightly colored. During the breeding season, the females examined showed that they were diseased from too much ovarian activity.
Of six infant daughters examined, only one will be sufficiently restrained to breed successfully and she in turn will produce annually two decorous males (destined for the harem) one lusty brood hen and five hopeless wantons. I submit that this is the most instructive example of avian depravity ever brought to light.

SCHOOL NEWS

News from Offices of Administrators

The second in a series of meetings to help parents know their schools will be held at the Lemon Grove School cafeteria on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

The program will emphasize and explain the work being done in grades four, five and six. The leaders in the discussion will be Mrs. June Mason, social studies; Mrs. Maggie M. Lauderbach, language arts; and William Vick, audio-visual aids.

These meetings are sponsored by the Parent Study Group of the Lemon Grove P.T.A., Mrs. S. K. Solleder, chairman. Parents of the entire school district are cordially invited to attend.

The Elementary Group of the County Music Curriculum Committee offered demonstrations and workshop experiences to interested teachers at the County Service Center on Saturday during the morning.

Teachers from all over the county presented various phases of music at the elementary level, kindergarten through the eighth grade. Mrs. Ada Krinsky, fourth grade teacher of the Lemon Grove School discussed the rote song phase of music and working with monotonies. Mrs. Helen Thompson, first grade teacher in our schools, assisted her by discussing the problems of teaching music at the kindergarten and first grade levels.

Other topics of interest that the committee handled were music films, rhythms, reading of music, recordings, and appreciation.

The Spring Meeting of the California Mathematics Council of the San Diego Region met on Saturday morning at Science Building, State College. Dr. Donald Watson and Dr. Edwin Eagle of State College were the principal speakers at the general meeting, following which section meetings were held. Ross Evans, Director of Technical Training, U. S. Training Center, used as his topic "For More Effective Use of Teaching Aids." "For More Effective Practical Application" was led by John Voss, Principal of Snyder Continuation School. Joseph Odenthal, Principal of the Lemon Avenue School, La Mesa, was leader of "For More Effective Approach to the Language Problem Involved." Sanders, class secretary; Alex Barron, song leader; and Larry Smith and Mary Telles, the new safeties.

The group is now studying the Missions of California. Cynthia White, John Hensley, and Robert Ellis have made miniature missions. The class visited Serra Museum and Presidio Park, Mission San Diego de Alcalá and old Mission Dam on Tuesday. The children made a full day of it with a picnic lunch. They were taken to the various points of interest by cars furnished and driven by the parents.

The class also made a study of trees and birds native to California, bringing in rare specimens to make up an attractive display in the elementary school office. A special committee made and illustrated a bird book, which will be added to as they observe other birds arriving here in the spring.

Mrs. Darroch's seventh grade home room group has completed a picture scrap book for the Junior Red Cross. Each member brought colored postcards views of the United States, and a committee mounted them in the book for a crippled Dutch boy, who has been corresponding with the group. ## At Basket Ball Game

by Roger Conlee
The Gold Citizenship Club members, Student Council members and boys from the Junior Traffic Patrol all witnessed the Grossmont-San Diego basketball game Tuesday evening of last week at Grossmont High Gymnasium as the guests of the Lemon Grove School. The Foothillers didn't look their best as the Cavemen of San Diego grabbed an easy 51-28 decision, thus avenging an earlier 37-35 setback. Paced by Dean Davis, Roy Fields and Charlie Powell, the San Diego Five was quick to strike and fast to defend. At one point the score was 24-5 in favor of the victors. Phil Embleton, of Grossmont, who has coast league scoring honors in the bag with over 130 points, had a bad night to add to the Foothill worries. He scored seven points three on free throws.

The Grossmont B team was more fortunate than the A's. Playing a see-saw game, San Diego finally fell to the Foothill Bees, 35-33.

The Junior High School students were accompanied to the game by Coaches Barney Davis and Mel Fraley. Mrs. Schmidt was the bus driver.

Rosemary Blalock was recently elected to the student council as home room representative for the 7-4 group. She replaces Roger Conlee, who resigned in order to devote all the seventh period to his job on the school newspaper.

The Lemon Grove Teachers Association will hold its March meeting this (Thursday) evening, at the school cafeteria, at 7:30 William Vick, president, will preside and call for reports from the various members of the executive committee.

Local Red Cross Quota is $700

Heading up the solicitation for Red Cross in the county areas is Vince Ridge, public relations man for Standard Oil Company, and General Charles F. B. Price, USMC (ret.) as his vice chairman. During the month of February, these two energetic Red Crossers have covered every corner of San Diego County recruiting the volunteers to carry on the vital job of calling on donors. Commenting upon the reactions of various community groups, Mr. Ridge said:

"Our Red Cross campaigns know they've tackled a big job but they intend to make a success of it because they realize the importance of what Red Cross does, not only in their own communities but also across the nation and across the seas. And they're proud of San Diego Chapter's accomplishments last year and are determined to keep Red Cross serving here in San Diego County."

For the first time in the history of Red Cross fund raising in San Diego County, the campaign chairman, J. L. Haugh, will confer with his division leaders each Friday at 6 p. m. over KFMB-TV. Time for the series, begins February 24 through March 31, has been given to Red Cross by Jack Gross, KFMB-TV president.

Douglas McArthur, campaign director, will act as master of ceremonies and will introduce the various campaign volunteers who will appear on the program. Campaign workers will gather at television parties in their homes and at neighborhood appliance dealers to "see what their chairman has to say" and to learn the progress of the appeal for funds.

California Dealt Blow in Senate

problem which confronts California.

So much for the Senate battle which, of course, is all over now. From here on, California must carry its fight in the House. Here the picture is somewhat brighter than it was in the Senate, but we will have only a fighting chance if the bill ever reaches the House floor. Our best hope lies in defeating the project in the Public Lands Committee, although we still would have an opportunity to block it in the Rules Committee if it should reach that body.

In the Public Lands Committee, California is fortunate in having two very able and articulate supporters of our position, representing both political parties. Norris Poulsen, of Los Angeles, has been notably effective in lining up adherence to our cause among his committee colleagues, as had Clair Engle, of Red Bluff. Despite the fact that he comes from northern California, where the division of Colorado River water has no direct impact, Congressman Engle has steadfastly resisted pressure from the Bureau of Reclamation in support of this position.

California's delegation in Congress is meeting daily to devise strategy and muster strength for our point of view among members of the Public Lands Committee from the more or less interested states. At this time we believe we have a fair chance to block the Arizona project in this committee. In our strategy, we feel that many such members cannot fail to be impressed by such facts as this: the interest alone on the cost of the Central Arizona project would amount to more than the total assessed valuation of the entire state!

But, in the final analysis, this issue will be settled by the position taken by Administration leaders, both in Congress and in the Executive branch of the government. If they crack the whip the California cause will be lost. Of course, there are those who say that the Republicans can make political capital in California by blaming the Administration for the Arizona project. However, I could not share in any such comfort which might be derived from this situation. With the whole future of California at stake, all considerations of partisan politics must be avoided in our approach to this fight. It is therefore my sincere hope that Administration leaders in California will bring all possible pressure to bear on the project leadership in Washington, not only for the protection of our best interests as a state, but also on the basis that our position on this vital issue is fundamentally right in principle.

Forward Club

Miss Izetta Jewell (Mrs. Hugh Miller), of La Jolla, drama chairman of San Diego County Federation, C.F.W.C., will present "Radio Randoms" at the program meeting of the Forward Club on Friday afternoon of next week. Miss Jewell is a former actress of the legitimate stage and is a delightful speaker.

Mrs. I. B. Burkette, Mrs. Harold Haskins and Mrs. C. H. Hollingshead will be hostesses for the tea and social hour. Over 100 guests were present last Friday at the style show presented by Madame Kriete at which members of the Juniors were honored guests. Recorded music was played during the fashion parade and furnished by the Galland Radio Shop which also provided a loud speaker.

A patriotic theme was used in decorations and appointments, numerous small American flags on standards being provided by The Greeting Shop.

Tea was served from a beautifully decorated table by Mesdames George Loveday, Stanley Blake, Katherine Hall and E. W. Meadows.

The Executive Board will meet at 9 a. m. on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ted Haaf, 7825 Palm. A nominating committee will be elected.

A number of club members will attend a County Federation meeting at the Bonita Woman's Club at 10 a. m. on Saturday. Mrs. Fred Wright will discuss poetry on a panel discussion on literature.

Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds

The Executive Board of Grossmont District of Camp Fire Girls met at the La Mesa Youth Center Monday evening. Reports were given by each chairman, with a discussion on summer camp and campships. Representing the Lemon Grove groups were Mrs. Burton Snyder, Mrs. S. R. Close, Mrs. John Bates and Arthur Boese.

The Waditaka and Weyannah groups, with their leaders, Mrs. Ed Sonka and Mrs. Ralph Nelson, practiced songs and drills at the home of Mrs. S. R. Close, Monday afternoon, in preparation for a program to be given the last week in March. This program will be a city wide Camp Fire Birthday program in the auditorium of Roosevelt Jr. High.

The Troika group spent Monday afternoon at the home of their leader, Mrs. Joe Young, practicing for a public program, that they presented Tuesday evening for the V.F.W. social meeting. The girls sang camp fire songs, and gave a short skit on handicraft. They also had an exhibit of their work.

The Gay and Happy Blue Bird group, and their leader, Mrs. F. R. Faucher, enjoyed a "Penny Hike" Wednesday afternoon.

Local Interest in Kiwanis Conclave

More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the 35th annual convention of Kiwanis International May 7 to 11 at Miami Beach, Fla., officers of the Kiwanis Club of Lemon Grove were informed Monday.

Dr. Peter Shea, president of the club, said that reports from the Miami Kiwanis convention headquarters indicate that preparations for the five-day meeting are fast nearing completion.

Many nationally known figures will be on hand to address delegates, representing 3,100 clubs and 200,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and the Yukon Territory, Shea said.

These speakers will include, among others, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, General Carlos P. Romulo, president of the General Assembly of the United Nations, the Rev. Marshall R. Reed, bishop of the Methodist church in the Detroit area, and John Fisher, Toronto, widely known Canadian radio commentator and newspaper columnist.

Delegates will also participate in panel conferences on numerous Kiwanis sponsored activities, ranging from public affairs, boys and girls work and agriculture to support of churches in their spiritual aims. An outstanding program also is being planned for the wives of Kiwanians, Shea said.

Anticipating a huge delegate registration, Kiwanis International established its convention headquarters at Miami in January. At the same time, the organization began planning many features that tie into nationwide meeting of business and professional leaders.

J. Hugh Jackson, dean of the graduate school of business at Stanford University, Stanford, and president of Kiwanis International, will preside over the various convention sessions.

Blue Cross Drive Getting Results

Present indications, according to San Diego County Blue Cross-Blue Shield officials, are that the current campaign to enroll 10,000 individuals and their families in the popular doctor-hospital health plan will surpass the goal set at the start of the drive.

"People everywhere are realizing the importance of prepaid, budgeted surgical and hospital care," said Fred C. Merriam, San Diego district manager, "and we welcome these new members who, by their foresight, are certain to take the economic shock out of an unexpected accident or a prolonged illness."

Individuals who enroll during the campaign, Merriam said, have free choice of doctor and hospital, all members of the family have equal protection and no medical examination is required.

CEREAL WEED CONTROL

Broad leaved weeds in grain fields may be controlled with the new selective weedicide, 2-4-D. One-half to three quarter pounds of actual acid should be applied per acre when the cereal plants are 6 to 8 inches tall, suggests Bernard, J. Hall, Farm Advisor. Spray applications with low pressure ground spray rigs, airplane or helicopter are satisfactory methods. Spray operations should be carried out only when the grain plants are fairly dry as moisture condensation on the plants may reduce the kill. Mustard, radish and fiddleneck weeds are easily killed with this new 2-4-D selective spray. A new bulletin "Selective Weed Killers" is available at the Farm Advisor's Office, Room 404, U. S. Custom House. This explains in detail methods of cereal weed control suggest Hall.
